ASSASSIN'S BULLETS END PRINCE ITO'S CAREER

JAPAN'S FOREMOST STATESMAN
KILLED AT HARBIN BY KOREAN.

MURDERER WAS ARRESTED

Man Said He Sought to Revenge His Country's Wrongs and Personal Grievances.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 26.—Prince Ito, Japan's foremost statesman, was assassinated here this afternoon (Tuesday) by a Korean, who had followed him here for the express purpose of killing him. The motive was revenge. The assassin was arrested.

Almost immediately on his arrival here and just as he had left the railroad car at the station the assassin made upon him. The venerable statesman was accompanied by the Russian minister of finance, Kozlovskoff, and was starting to inspect the guard of honor drawn up along the platform when a pistol shot was heard.

Several more shots were fired in quick succession, the bullets striking the Prince in the back, and he fell mortally wounded to the ground.

Three of the Prince's companions were also wounded, the bullets striking the Japanese consul general, Kawakita, General Manager Tanaka of the South Manchurian railway, and Prince Ito's private secretary, Kawakita was badly but not fatally injured, it is believed.

Prince Ito.

The assassin was promptly seized. On being questioned he said he was a Korean.

"I came to Harbin for the sole purpose of settling with the great Japanese statesman, who during his stay in Korea had ordered the execution of several persons closely connected with the assassin."

He also said he had a personal account to settle with the great Japanese statesman, who during his stay in Korea had ordered the execution of several persons closely connected with the assassin.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson today issued a statement on the death of Prince Ito. Mr. Wilson paid high tribute to Ito's ability as a statesman.

SUPREME COURT ON PLOWRIGHT MATTER

Sustains Finding of the Lower Court —Other Decisions Rendered Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 26.—In replevin, John Plowright, Inc. vs. the Deloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Railway company, on an appeal by the company from an order of the circuit court granting the petition to appoint commissioners to appraise the property value, and set the damages, the supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court, sustaining Plowright. The court says the way of the company in instituting proceedings to condemn was sufficient for the petitioners proceeding in the matter. The opinion is by Judge Stebbins.

The supreme court also decided the law passed at the last session of the legislature requiring the Sunday closing of barber shops, as constitutional, adding that the legislature had perhaps shown "superabundant" caution in the old law already covered the subject. The statute forbidding the sale or having in possession for sale of adulterated milk, was also declared constitutional.

In the case of appeal of the insurance company from judgment for damages caused by an overhead trolley, in which there was no actual litigation for furniture, draperies, etc., the court held it was "hostile" and that fire and damages accrued whether the property was actually leased or not.

In the appeal of Smith versus Carter heirs, the court sustained the decision of Judge Grinn who decided the right to open up the suit against the heirs having been on the estate for twenty-six years. In the suit of McGowan versus the village of Milton, the court held up a decision stating the case was not completed and ready for a finding.

DOWN-RIVER TRIP A TRIUMPHAL JOURNEY

Towns and Hamlets Along Mississippi
Hall Advent Of Taft's Party and Prepare Housing Reception.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Calro, Ill., Oct. 26.—The first day of President Taft's trip down the Mississippi River witnessed a reception of the enthusiastic demonstrations that have marked every stage of his transcontinental tour. At every town and hamlet on both sides of the great waterway the coming of the picturesque flotilla of seventeen steamboats, with the trim little torpedo boats promptly leading the way, was heralded by the blowing of whistles and the ringing of bells. During the night huge bonfires lighted up the banks of the river.

Daybreak this morning found the picturesque river cavalcade one hundred miles from the starting point. The night trip had been made without any untoward incident. Toward six o'clock the flotilla came in sight of Cape Girardeau, which was to be the first stop. The flotilla, with the President and his personal party aboard, was in the lead. Then came the steamer Mississippi, with other government officials; the St. Paul, with the governors and foreign dignitaries; the Quincy, with the congressional delegation, and the steamers Alton, Savannah, Cape Girardeau, St. Louis and Chester, carrying delegations of business men and others. The flotilla entered the development of the Mississippi River and its tributaries. Docks the early hours the entire population of Cape Girardeau and the surrounding country turned out to greet the President. The flotilla was made fast to the wharf and for fifteen or twenty minutes the President addressed the crowd from the deck of the steamer. Then the signal to cast off was given and amid tremendous cheers, the firing of guns and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs the journey down the river was resumed.

The Cape Girardeau program was repeated at Calro, which city was reached shortly before noon. A stay of one hour was made here. The river front was gay with flags and lanterns and the leaves were black with people. At 1 o'clock the journey was resumed. The program provided for a brief stop at Hickman, Mo., late this afternoon. Memphis will be reached tomorrow morning and there the flotilla will be joined by a Lee River steamer carrying the Tennessee delegation to the New Orleans convention. In Memphis Tonight.

DELEGATES TO DRY FARMING CONGRESS IN BILLINGS, MONT.

Agricultural Experts Of American and European Countries Open
Convention Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Billings, Mont., Oct. 26.—With delegates present from more than half the states and territories of the Union, from Canada, Mexico and several European countries, the fourth Dry Farming Congress opened here today. The sessions will continue until Friday, and during that time much important action is expected to be taken looking toward the reclamation and rapid settlement of the 200,000,000 acres of semi-arid lands in the West and South.

Not since the beginning of the dry farming movement has so much interest been taken in the meetings of the congress and during the four days' session methods by which nonirrigated lands may be profitably cultivated not only will be exhaustively discussed but practical illustrations of what the system of dry farming is doing for the West will be given.

Among the speakers will be United States senators and governors of half a dozen states, government and state agricultural experts, railway magnates and representatives of numerous commercial organizations and colonization movements. The speakers from countries outside the United States will include Senor Don Tomasa Escobar of Mexico, Dr. Lawrence Daulton of Brazil, Thomas H. Woodford of Alberta, George N. Blackman of Rhodesia, W. J. Rutherford of Saskatchewan; George Harcourt, deputy commissioner of agriculture of Alberta; Dr. A. A. Branson, deputy commissioner of agriculture of Turkey; W. H. Palmer, superintendent of dry farming experiments in Canada, and John Saffery, special delegate from the national agricultural association of Hungary.

Delegates continue to gather here, every train arriving this morning bringing in hundreds interested in the work of the congress. The visitors found the arrangements for their reception and entertainment to be of the most perfect and elaborate character. Public and private buildings throughout the city are profusely decorated in honor of the occasion. Across Montana avenue, one of the city's leading thoroughfares, an auditor arch of welcome has been erected.

Although the first meeting was scheduled for 9:30 a. m., it was somewhat later than that hour when Governor Norris, president of the congress, acceded to the platform and called the gathering to order. Secretary John T. Burns read the roll call, which showed the attendance to be larger and of a more representative character than at the Chayamun meeting of last year. Welcoming addresses and responses, the appointment of committees and other business of a routine character occupied the greater part of the initial session. At the sessions to follow James J. Hill of St. Paul, ex-Governor Alva Adams of Colorado and other men of wide reputation will be heard.

One of the most interesting features of the gathering is the exhibition of dry farming products, which is housed in the mammoth wool storehouse which has floor space of nearly 100,000 square feet. Grains and grasses, fruits and vegetables, all the products of dry farming, are displayed in great profusion. Large displays have been made by Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, Texas, Utah, Oregon and Washington in the Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

COUNCIL FACES LIGHT PROBLEM

NEW LAMPS NEEDED BUT FUNDS ARE LACKING.

HOBDO ORDER A PUZZLER

Moving-picture Ordinances Went Unmentioned at Session Last Evening—Street Improvements.

Because the adoption of their recommendations seemed likely to involve the expenditure of much more than the extra $170 raised for such purposes this year, the common council last evening, on motion of Ald. Sheridan, laid over the lighting committee's report for two weeks. It developed that the lights cost the city $62 apiece per year while 50 candle power incandescents are available at the rate of $70 per pair. The lighting committee is composed of Aldermen Scott, Clark, Brown, Bohfeld, and Dulin, and the proposed alterations and new lamps to be placed under the direction of the aldermen in the various wards are as follows:

First Ward—Are light at the intersection of Washington and Terrace streets to be transferred to the intersection of Elizabeth and Washington streets; 50 candle power arc lights at the intersection of Olive and Washington streets and on Linden avenue half way to Oak Hill avenue.

Second Ward—Are light on North Bluff street beyond the gas plant to be removed and 50 candle power incandescents substituted; 50 candle power lamps at the railway crossing on North Bluff street near the house at the intersection of S. Hickory and Glen streets, one block east of Williams street, on the curve of the hill; on St. Mary's avenue at the railway crossing; and at the intersection of Fourth avenue and Hickory street.

Third Ward—Are lamps at the intersection of Court street, Milwaukee avenue, and Ringold street and on South Main street near the bridge and below the brewery; 50 candle power lights on Bennett street, half way the length of that thoroughfare from Milton avenue; at the corner of Eastern avenue and Deloit road; below the brickyard and southeast of the brewery; and near the railway crossing on South Main street.

Fourth Ward—50 candle power incandescents lamps at the intersection of South Franklin and Pleasant streets and at the intersection of South Jackson and Center streets.

Fifth Ward—New arc light at the corner of South Washington street and Western avenue; the one at the corner of Terrace and Bluff streets to be dropped two feet; 50 candle power lamps at the corner of Wall and Terrace streets, and at the corner of South Chatham and Center streets.

A report by H. C. Klein, fire chief and city electrician, regarding the city lighting is published in another column.

Matters of Finance.

The finance committee's reports on bills and the salary list were adopted. In response to a request from the board of education that such a sum be made immediately available, the mayor was authorized to borrow $5,000 and place it to the credit of the school fund. His Honor was also authorized to borrow $1,000 and place it to the credit of the fire and water fund. City Clerk Cummings was directed to draw on the treasurer in the sum of $400, payable to William Hill in partial settlement for sidewalk constructed and charge the amount to the several funds as follows: General, $200; First ward, $70; Third ward, $40. He was also directed to draw on the treasurer in the sum of $45 payable to Frank Kimball from the general fund; in the sum of $400 payable to the First National bank, assignee of the People's Construction company, for work on the main outlet sewer; and in the sum of $52.91, payable from the general fund to the People's Construction company for work in District four; $148.01 payable for work in Dist. 5; and $128.00 for work in Dist. 3. The mayor and clerk were directed to sign and deliver to this firm certificates of special assessment representing $3,202.84; likewise certificates of special assessment amounting to $2,778.41 to be turned over to Ryan & Finley for sewer work completed in Dist. No. 6. The street assessment committee's report on the amount due Ryan & Finley for work in Dist. No. 11 was referred to the aldermen of the Second ward.

Highways.

Plans for the improvement of Olive street, from Madison street to Washington street, were adopted and likewise the street assessment committee's report, apportioning the benefits to abutting property. Similar action was taken with regard to the improvement of North High street, from Race to Madison street; and Madison street, from Ravine to Jackson street. Resolutions calling for the improvement with macadam and cement gutters of that portion of Sinclair street which lies between the Milwaukee avenue and South Third street intersections; South Third street, from Jackson to Sinclair; South Second street, from East to Jackson; and from Jackson to Sinclair street; and directing the street assessment committee to view the premises and fix the benefits and damages, were also passed. Directions were given that the Milwaukee street bridge be replanked under the direction of the highway committee. Supt. Dulin's report showed that 79 1/2 yards of material had been turned out by the stone crusher plant during the two weeks ending Oct. 23.

Improvements and Repairs.

The aldermen of the Second ward and the city engineer were authorized to have a catch-basin constructed on each side of North First street on the east side of North Main street. Directions were given to the street commissioner to build brick crosswalks across Rock street on the west side of South High street; across the alley on the north side of Galena street between 8, High and 8, Jackson streets; across North street on the east side of Cherry street; across Linden street on the north side of Western avenue; on the east side of 17th avenue across Walker street; and across Division street on the south side of St. Lawrence Place.

That official was also directed to build cement gutters across Chatham street on the north side of Pleasant street and across Washington street on the west side of Linden street; and make repairs and do such work as may be deemed necessary at the intersection of Wheeler and S. Bluff streets.

The Hobo Problem.

Ald. Clark moved that the order passed on Oct. 11, calling upon the city marshal to require all men given food and lodging at the city lockup and not under arrest on any specific charge to work from 7 to 10 a. m. on the streets, be rescinded. He did not believe the enforcement of such a measure was practicable nor did he think it was right to compel those transients to toil three hours for a bit of bread and a cup of coffee. Ald. Dulin declared that the object of the order was to break up the gang of hobos that infested the town and not to secure cheap street work. Chief Appleby questioned the legal right of the officers to compel a man who had not been committed for the night to work; calling attention to the fact that about $1 worth of bread and coffee would feed forty men, and to the fact that this expenditure was almost covered by the ten cent fees (amounting to $40 per annum) allowed by law to the incumbent of his office and turned over to the city by the courts; and stated in conclusion that except in extreme cases the same individual was not permitted to obtain lodging at the lockup for more than a single night. City Attorney Maxfield held that lodgers, not under arrest, could not be compelled to work. Ald. Sheridan suggested that vagrancy charges be preferred in such instances and moved that Ald. Clark's order be referred to the police committee for consideration. The motion was carried.

Miscellaneous Business.

Mayor Clark's appointment of John Benson as special police officer without pay from Oct. 25 to Jan. 11, was approved. George A. Odum, representing a trade magazine published in Milwaukee, offered to devote two pages of a projected 14-page write-up of Janesville to the common council for a consideration of $35, but no action was taken in open meeting. Mr. Halght was granted permission to sell the balance of the David Barlow stock at an auction lasting one day, without paying any license fee. The city clerk was directed to purchase two carloads of paving brick. Ald. Richardson was absent from the meeting.

QUALITY OF CITY'S LIGHTING SERVICE

H. C. Klein Tells Council That It Is Very Difficult to Ascertain Actual Candle-power of Lamps.

The lighting service furnished to the city of Janesville was thoroughly reviewed in the following communication filed by Fire Chief H. C. Klein with the common council last evening:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville, Wis.

Janesville, Oct. 9, 1909.

I received a communication from the City Attorney, H. L. Maxfield, calling my attention to a seeming dereliction of duty on my part, in the non-inspection of the street lights, as it appeared to him that there was no inspecting being done, for the reason that no reports were filed in compliance with ordinance No. 218 and a subsequent amendment. In reply thereto I will report to the Common Council that this ordinance was framed and passed when the city used the old system of direct current lighting, and at that time I did faithfully comply with that ordinance, but with the advent of the new system of lighting it was not deemed so necessary to have such a rigid inspection, as in all appearance these lights gave entire satisfaction to the then lighting committee, and I labored under the supposition that it was tacitly understood that a superficial inspection would do in the future. No reports were filed for the reason that they would have a suspension month after month and furthermore, it is a physical impossibility for me to fulfill the exactions of this ordinance as it now stands, without neglecting my fire department and fire alarm duties. It has been my custom since this new system of street lighting was installed whenever I found anything wrong with a lamp or otherwise I called the attention of an employee of the lighting company to that fact and it was as promptly attended to. In view of the foregoing facts I will respectfully request that this ordinance be so amended as to permit the fulfillment of the same by the Chief Engineer of the Fire department.

Since receiving the above communication I received a verbal request from the chairman of the lighting committee, that I make an inspection of the lighting system and find what the actual candle power of the street lights are, and report the results of such test to the Common Council. To which I hereby report the following: On the nights of October 6 and October 19th the undersigned in company with the aforesaid member of the lighting committee made indiscriminate tests of lamps throughout the several wards of the city and found that the potential voltage averaged at the lamp terminals 75 volts, and the amperage was 6.6 at the lighting plant. These tests therefore indicated that 495 watts were being used or consumed at each lamp. The lamps used in lighting the streets are known as the "Hobbs Alternating Inclosed Arc Lamps;" and to properly operate the same 6.6 amperes of current under a pressure of 72 volts at the arc is required or in other words 495 watts should be used or consumed. What the candle power of these lamps actually are, I am unable to test, as I have no photometer to test the same, and if I did it would make no difference, as the contract between the city and the Janesville Electric Company states what the said company is to furnish.

The substance of the contract made June 3, 1905 is that the Janesville Electric Company will furnish 6.5 amperes of current, under a pressure of 80 volts alternating current, and to so operate in all other respects as to secure the fullest and best results from the same. The lamps to be used are known as "General Electric Hobbs Alternating Inclosed Arc Lamps," of the nominal fifteen hundred candle power each.

To explain my statements that it would make no difference" used in a preceding sentence I will call your attention to the word "nominal" used in the contract. This word in the manner it conveys something very indefinite. Perhaps these lamps may radiate a actual candle power between 500 and 600. Furthermore, I wish to explain that the word "nominal" is invariably used in making arc lighting contracts. Again to further show I will quote the following from Standard Electrical Dictionary: CANDLE POWER, RATED. The candle power of arc lamps is always stated in excess of the truth, and this may be termed as above. A 2000 candle power lamp really gives about 800 candles illumination. Synonym—Nominal Candle Power. Respectfully Submitted, H. C. Klein, Chief Engineer.

Among the scores of principals in the Sheehan Opera Company, number one hundred, Miss Louise Le Baron is one of the foremost. She made her first professional appearance with the famous "Bostonians" and scored an immediate success as "Alma-dale" in "Robin Hood". From the "Bostonians" Miss Le Baron was engaged to play opposite Miss Fritz Schell during the New York engagement of "Mile Modiste", "Babette" and "Baccarat" going from there to the Castle Square Opera Company of Boston where she played for seventy weeks in the principal contralto roles of more than thirty operas. Her success was assured in "The Girl" shortly after her first appearance.

For the past two seasons, Miss Le Baron has been with the Sheehan Company where her success has been

DELIGHTFUL MUSIC BY FINE COMPANY

The Sheehan Opera Company Sang Themselves into the Hearts of Their Audiences.

Never before has a Janesville audience had the pleasure of listening to grand opera. But few cities have the opportunity of hearing the masterpieces of artists given in such a manner, or sung with as much spirit and artistic feeling as was Verdi's famous "Il Trovatore" last evening by the Joseph P. Sheehan Opera company at the Myers theatre.

From the opening chorus, in response to Frank Prosch's resonant voice, "Arise ye," until the curtain dropped on the last act, the audience sat spellbound. Grand opera does not need a plot to carry it along but it needs voices to render the soulful music of the composer. The Sheehan Opera company last evening demonstrated that they have the voices and not only that, but rare actors as well. Joseph Sheehan, as Marico, clearly proved he is rightfully named, "America's greatest tenor." In the famous solo, "Di Quella Pina," his magnificent voice was heard to its best advantage and fairly made the theatre ring.

Miss Louise Le Baron, as Azucena, the gypsy, not only sang her part, but acted the old hag she portrayed. Her voice has a remarkable range and is of much beauty.

Miss Julia Hume had the difficult part of Leonora and shared with Mr. Sheehan and Miss Le Baron the honors of the evening.

George Crumpton sang the difficult and most unsatisfactory role of Count di Luna, most acceptably.

"Il Trovatore" is one of the most beautiful of the grand opera selections. It deals with a plot large enough to carry the situations and is replete in beautiful music. Divided into acts, and the acts into scenes, it takes the audience from the castle, to the gypsy camp, from the camp to the convent, from the convent to the field of battle and then to the dungeon cell.

The music told the wonderful story of the scenes and the delighted audience followed each change. Curtain calls forced Mr. Sheehan to make a talk to the audience after the second act before they would be satisfied and the applause which followed the rendition of each new and more beautiful solo than the last.

Tonight "Carmen" is to be given. It is needless to say that a packed house should greet the performance. The music-lovers of Janesville have never before been offered such a rare treat as is in store for them tonight and it is to be hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the magnificent music of Bizet's famous opera as sung by the talented members of the Sheehan company.

LOUISE LE BARON, PRIMA DONNA CONTRALTO WHO WILL BE HEARD AS "CARMEN" WITH JOSEPH P. SHEEHAN OPERA CO.

remarkable. Her "Carmen" is said to be the best since the days of Calvé. "That 'Carmen' is Miss Le Baron's favorite is evident," says a recent press critic, "and her interpretation of the role is phenomenal. Miss Le Baron bases her interpretation on Prosper Merimee's story of the famous cigarette girl and has instilled character into the character wholly original. She does not believe that 'Carmen' should be played as a hardened courtesan but rather as an irresponsible, care free, light hearted, will-the-whisper whose affections were but the whim of a moment."

"Paid in Full," Eugene Walter's comedy drama that has proven an epoch in American theatricals, comes to the Myers theatre, Saturday, Oct. 30, matinee and evening when it will be seen with the cast that a few weeks ago came from the Astor Theatre in New York. It is a played cast, whose members hold their interest in the presentation of a play that is foremost in worth and popularity. It was at the Astor theatre that the Wagonwheel & Kemper Company launched "Paid in Full" upon a New York run that continued without break for two years. Last summer the play returned to that theatre, thereby securing a third year on Broadway. This was unprecedented. It merited special recognition.

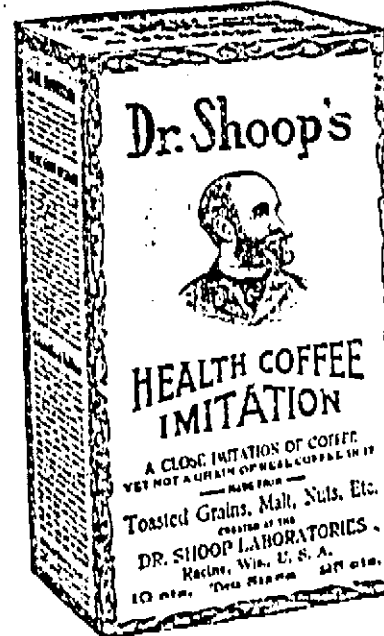

Therefore the producers signified the occasion by forming a selected

THE WORK COMMENCED

Efforts are now being circulated asking the mayor to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the people the question of adopting the commission form of government. It is up to the voters to say whether or not they want the question submitted and if 25 per cent of the voters are in favor then it will be for all of the voters to decide whether or not to adopt the plan.

People who have read the Gazette for the past two weeks are reasonably well-informed as to the working of the plan in cities under commission government. As much information has been devoted to this subject of information. The plan seems to have everything to recommend it; it is a but few objections are raised.

There is no reason why it should not be successful in Janesville as elsewhere. It is worth trying at any rate. If the petitioners are generally endorsed the lower city will be the first city in the state to adopt it. Other cities in the state are planning similar action, however, and the new law promises to be popular.

IMPROVEMENT ALL AROUND

In speaking of the commission plan of government at Des Moines, Iowa, H. T. Blackburn, cashier of the Iowa National bank, declared the plan had worked well, and that merchants favored it as a great improvement over the old government. He, too, emphasized the better condition of the streets and added: "There is a clear-cut division of the municipal work and officials take an interest in their duties." F. J. Camp, secretary and manager of the Brown-Hurley Hardware company, spoke strongly of the value of better street conditions in the business section. "The new method," he said, "makes it possible to locate responsibility at the city hall for any set or failure of the city government, and there is every reason to believe that the plan will be continued."

A large property owner pointed out the superiority of this new system over the old. "Formerly," he said, "it was frequently impossible to find any one at the city hall; the council, being practically unpaid, gave little or no time to the city's business, meeting nights after their own business was finished. Men should be paid to devote their whole time to the work of the city; this brings responsibility and gives good results."

Editor William Hale of the Des Moines News and Professor MacNaught of Des Moines college spoke enthusiastically of the improvement the methods have brought about. Isaac Friedlich, a large retail clothing merchant, spoke warmly of the good effects of having paid commissioners in the increased promptness of attention to business and the general improvement, and T. J. Williams of the Williams Luggage company called attention to the fact that some of the commissioners had held office under the old government, and pointed out that now the same men are enabled to do better work.

This is the testimony of taxpayers after two years' experience and it carries weight and conviction. While Des Moines is a larger city than Janesville there is no reason why the plan should not work as well here. The same business methods will produce the same results and improvement all along the line is sure to follow. Sign the petition and give the people an opportunity to decide the question.

THE DEFINITE POLICY

The National Rivers and Harbors congress is working for a definite policy in dealing with river and harbor improvements—a policy which "does away with the haphazard appropriation, and provides for a bond issue sufficiently large to complete a system which will benefit the entire country. The argument used is thus stated:

"It is only the establishment of a definite policy that is needed in the United States to begin and complete the improvement of a system of waterways not equalled in any country on the globe. The money is at hand and can easily be had. The foreign commerce of the United States is vast. The latest volume of the Statistical Abstract of the United States—Volume 30, 1908—showing that the total foreign commerce of the United States, imports and exports, amounted to $2,315,272,563 also shows the immeasurably greater value of the trade and commerce between the states. The same authority gives the value of the crops for that year at figures exceeding $7,400,000,000; manufactured products, $14,802,147,087; the wool crop at $7,263,106; lumber at $621,161,283; coal, anthracite and bituminous, at $13,078,809, with 23,972,000 tons of pig iron produced with values not given. The articles cited, taking no note of the numberless other products and industries, show the tremendously greater value of the internal over the foreign commerce of the country.

"Foreign commerce has a highway at all seasons of the year and the development of the internal trade of the country could readily be gauged if, like its foreign competitor, it had continuous means of communication between shipper and receiver, with the prices to the consumer reduced from present figures which are largely because of the inadequate means of transportation causing delays and added cost to producer or freight payer. "The upper Mississippi valley and the great states of the northwest appreciate the situation. The recent meeting of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association rightly determined to continue its membership in the National Rivers and Harbors congress, appreciating the fact that the demand for a project involves delay and invokes criticism, with the demand for a policy making certain the improvement of the inland waterways of the country on definite lines and with continuous work.

"Governor Elbert of Minnesota was happy in his address to the convention in which he pointed out the magnificent results that have come to the trade and commerce of France, Germany and even Russia is through the inland waterway improvements which, having been undertaken, are pushed to completion without the delays caused by indefinite plans or inadequate appropriations. It is indeed the 'Policy, not a Project' of the National Rivers and Harbors congress that will ensure results."

The Pennsylvania, Burlington, Alton, St. Paul and Panhandle roads are planning to erect a $25,000,000 terminal station in Chicago on West Madison street, opposite the new C. & N. W. depot, now in process of construction. The plan will be carried out if the roads are let alone long enough to consummate the work. President McCone of the Pennsylvania is skeptical and says: "Antirailroad legislation will reach its height this fall. Every man just politician will go to Washington with all the fool legislation he can conjure, and try to work it off on the country. I expect to see more fool legislation at the next session than has yet been passed. Capital is nervous, and if congress does not see the danger, we shall have a recurrence of the late unpopularity in the financial world."

Senator Aldrich is coming west to board the lion in his den. He has just returned from Europe with the monetary commission, and will speak in Chicago Nov. 6 on the central bank project. Just now under discussion, and the west may profit by meeting him at close range. He is not as bad as painted.

The Chicago Tribune, with its accustomed news enterprise, printed a St. Louis edition for the benefit of the presidential fleet, now going down the river from St. Louis to New Orleans.

The insurgents are planning to organize a new party, unless they succeed in controlling the regular organization. They propose to regulate the president, as well as Aldrich and "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

City sewerage without city water is a waste of money, but it should be remembered that for every 100 feet of new mains a $25 annual hydrant rental is established, and there are a number of mains where the city is about the only customer.

Uncle Walt
 THE POET PHILOSOPHER
 By WALT MASON
 (Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

"I need a man," said the Merchant Prince, "to work in my store; I'll pay him well when he starts to work, and when I will pay him more. I want a man who will climb to the highest place, I have sought him high, I have sought him low, and I'm almost in despair; I've hunted all through the billiard halls, and I didn't find him there. I want a man with a view high that always he keeps in perspective; I want a man with a soul attuned to the things that are good and true; a youth who knows that the rich rewards are not for the idle shirk; a youth who comes from a pleasant home, and comes with a zest for work; I have sought this youth till my feet are tired, and my mind is filled with care; I looked for him in the great bazars, and I didn't find him there. I want a youth with a healthy mind who sees that the world is good, who knows that the men who win belong to industry's brotherhood; I want a youth who would rather own a dime that is fairly earned, than rolls of gold that were won at night in a room where the cards are turned; alas, alas! such a golden youth in this weary old world is rare! I've looked and looked where the loafers rest, and I didn't find him there."

 Don't be a "good fellow." The other fellow gets the fun, and you pay the fellow—Warning of a Good Fellow.

Joseph Graesser of Chicago, secretary of a loan and building association, stole from time to time $30,000 from the association funds.
 He took small sums at first; but, having once crossed the line of honesty, other thefts followed naturally or as a necessary act.
 Slobbing in his cell at the police station, Graesser grew calm after a time and issued this note of warning to young men:
 "Do not think you can take a small amount from the till and pay it back. You can't. Once started, your needs become greater all the time until you have no alternative but continued theft, night or day.
 "Do not live beyond your means. Once in debt you will never, never get out. Do not gamble. You are drawn tighter and tighter into the coils.
 "Do not spend money to pretend what you are not. You get tripped up in the end, to the shame of yourself and friends.
 "Since I took the first $25 out of the till I literally lived in hell. I took the first money to 'play the ponies.' I took more to win back what I lost. I have long known what the end would be, and my waking hours have been filled with agony and my nights with horrible dreams.
 "My arrest came as an actual relief."

But shame and pity for his family of wife and two little children succeeded the dread of discovery.
 "My wife is standing by me. She ought not to. I should have made her happy, but did not. It nearly kills me to have her so faithful after what I have done."
 And so this man has alternated between purgatory and hades.
 His weakness was in being a "good fellow." A friend said: "Come; let's go to the track. I've got a tip." In the desire to be a sport and a good fellow he took the first money.
 He is the old, old story—so old as to be stereotyped.
 It is the stuff of human tragedy weaved into the warp of human sinning. And out of it was long ago coined this essence of human experience, the divine dictum:
 "The soul that sinneth it shall die."
 In the years of his apprehension, shame and remorse the soul of Joseph Graesser died a thousand deaths. It was spiritual suffering, not mere physical pain. The prison was a relief. The man's soul suffered.
 Man's punishment of a sinner is one thing; God Almighty's is quite another.

The human foot should be allowed to grow naturally. To shape it to the changing fashion is to force the soft, pliable, growing bones, cords and muscles into unnatural and deformed shapes.

The foot thus pinched from its natural shape is often a source of suffering in later life. These pictures show the right and wrong way of shoeing the infant's foot.

TOLD IN THE PASSING.

Personal Influence.
Regarding the matter of personal influence and the history of advertising, Frank D. Blake lets go of this remark, which is warranted not to shrink in the wash:

"The story of advertising dates back to the Garden of Eden. The record discloses that Eve was the first 'advertising man.' She convinced Adam that there was an immense advantage in eating certain fruit. The fact that she was wrong simply illustrates the real strength of advertising. She had but one man to deal with and personal influence with him was successful. Had there been ten thousand men the result would have been different. Ten thousand prejudices can't be overcome with one story. Ten thousand conflicting interests can't be reconciled by one method. Ten thousand persons can not be brought under personal influence by word of mouth alone.

"The business man of today, who has outgrown the achievements of all the ages, and towers above his fellows in the commercial world like a mountain above the surrounding plain, owes his success to a single duplication of his powers in searching out and extending his influence over the right people at the right time. This single duplication, this multiplying the words of his month, the steps of his feet, and the sweep of his influence—is advertising."

Talks on Snake Culture

No. 34—The Outcasts

A man may be one of Nature's noblest, and have all kinds of admirable qualities of mind and heart, but if he drinks he will be voted a bore and a nuisance. New laws for the protection of non-drinkers (non-drinkers are being passed every once in a while. In several states it is against the law to drink on trains. This is a simple recognition of the fact that the man who drinks is an affliction. He is bad enough in the open, for you can climb a telephone pole, or crawl under a culvert when you see him coming, but when you are pined up in a passenger coach with him, he has you at a disadvantage. He usually wants to talk, and as he talks he blows his cream-colored breath in your face, and you wish you had an axe, so that you could put him out of his misery. Two men with cargoes aboard will scent up a whole tourist car, and make it uninhabitable. One man whose tongue has been lubricated with fuel oil will make a journey unendurable to seventy passengers, by actual count. Railway men have a horror of the couped passenger, but if they hold him down on the track and let the locomotive run over him they are apt to be arrested for disturbing the peace. The statesmen who make the laws are taking official notice of these facts, and the pent with a jerk finds himself extremely de trop when he tries to board a passenger car.

United States Aristocracy.
In this country there is a democracy of wealth and an aristocracy of intellect and ability. The ranks are open to all, and the poor boys of to-day are going to be the magnates of the future.

Neurasthenia Test.
According to an English court, a test for neurasthenia is to make a man stand up, with head erect and eyes closed, and whistle. A neurasthenic subject, it is said, cannot do this.

DIRT CHEAP!

You know what the average price of land is throughout the middle west—from $100 to $150 an acre.

But here in the very heart of Wisconsin lies over a half-million acres with the same soil and the same climate as the other lands, yet thrown on the market at from $6 to $20 an acre.

Ten Years to Pay

This land has been held by the lumbermen until stripped of its timber, and now it is thrown open to farmers.

One man recently bought some $15 land and after clearing and cultivating it sold the land for $50 an acre and reinvested the profits in other land here. He is even now a wealthy man.

You can buy this land by paying one-third down and the balance within ten years. Suppose you select some $15 land. Pay $5 an acre down and you can own an eighty-acre farm for only $100. And the value grows with great rapidity.

Wisconsin the Dairy State

Wisconsin butter, cream and cheese command a premium in every market. Rich, thick clover and pure spring water, with a mild climate, make dairying ideal.

Four cows usually yield $200 a year in butter and $150 in beef. Clover grows so abundantly as to bring $10 an acre in the meadow. Sugar beets, tobacco and grain all yield the most plentiful crops.

BREAKING DOWN IN BROOKLYN COURT

PIANO-MAKER MUELLER TELLS POLICE HE KILLED SECOND WIFE.

SLEW FOR LOVE OF CHILD

Under Pretense of Showing Woman Some Property He Induced Her to Accompany Him to Woods Where He Shot Her.

New York, Oct. 23.—Breaking down, when arraigned in Brooklyn police court, Frederick Gebhardt, alias Otto Mueller, a piano-maker from Astoria, La., confessed that he killed his newly-made wife, Anna Luther Mueller, by firing a bullet into her head on April 9, 1908. He said that he lured her to the woods at Bay Shore on a pretense of showing her some property.

The confessing slayer told the police that he had no other motive than to rid himself of the woman whom he had married on February 9, 1908, and return to his real wife, with whom he was living under the name of Fred Gebhardt, and the child that had been recently born to them.

Heavens Fear of Husband. Mueller was arraigned under the name of Frederick Gebhardt on the formal charge of bigamy.

Mrs. Gebhardt informed the authorities that she has lived in terror of her husband for many years and that on the occasion he was overheard while intoxicated to say that she was his eighth wife and that those who preceded her were in their graves.

Another point on which stress is laid by the police is the finding of four notes scribbled by Mueller, in which the writer revealed his intention to disappear. All are dated October 23, the day of the man's arrest, and contain instructions for the disposal of his property. One of the notes is addressed to the Long Island City bank and follows: "Please pay my account to my wife, Anna Gebhardt. I am legally dead."

Skeleton of Woman Found.

It was only a week ago that the skeleton of a woman was found in a clump of brush between Brentwood and Tappan on Long Island. The first step taken was the identification of the woman as Anna Luther Mueller, in which the police were assisted by the authorities in Astoria, Prussia. The next move was in the direction of the husband of the woman. He was known as Otto Mueller, but he had disappeared and no trace of him could be found by the sleuths who were keen on the case. Then it developed by the orderly work of several important clues that Mueller was none else than Fred Gebhardt of Astoria.

Said Anna Was in Florida.

Mueller told the police he never thought it "worth while" to go back to bury the murdered girl. Instead, he wrote letters to her friends in Newark and Germany, telling them that Anna was in poor health and had gone to Florida. Then he quit "bothering about her."

Mueller, when he was in Germany, bought two German police dogs, and it was by tracing the dogs that the detectives found his home in Astoria. While a newspaper photographer chased a flash-light at the dogs the flare revealed the pale face of Mueller peering from the jaws of an out-house. He was run down and arrested.

WOMAN PROVES TO BE HEROINE.

Prevents Train from Smashing Motor Car Containing Self and Son.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 23.—Caught between the gates of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, with a train coming at the rate of 25 miles an hour, Mrs. Charles Chester Allen, wife of an official of the Central Leather Company, and her little son had a narrow escape from death here.

Mrs. Allen was driving an automobile and when she drove on the track she did not see the train approaching from the north. Just as she passed the center of the tracks the gates came down with a bang. She saw her peril in a second and, clasping the little boy about the neck, she leaped out of the automobile, at the same time flagging the train. The engineer saw her signal and brought the train to a standstill when it was within a short distance of the car.

The stop was made so suddenly that passengers on the train were thrown into a panic and many of them rushed from the cars, expecting that some one had been killed. Mrs. Allen retained her composure after the accident, and after the car had been removed from the track she graciously thanked the engineer for stopping the train and drove away.

Carries Million Insurance.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Charles Nether of this city is the most heavily insured woman in the United States, and probably in the world. Her estate will be paid $1,000,000 at her death. She is the owner of the Boston department store and the heavy insurance is carried to protect her business interests.

Mrs. Astor Seeks Divorce.

New York, Oct. 23.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, leader of the four hundred, is suing her husband for a legal separation. The proceedings have been conducted quietly and with dispatch. The case is now in the hands of the referee. Exactly what is the basis of the action has not been learned.

Light Best Enemy of Vice.

The mayor of Baltimore says that one good light is worth a dozen policemen.

JURY INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE IN PUBLIC

Cook County Judges Decide to Give Jury Commissioners a Hearing—Sensations Are Promised.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—James A. McLean and William A. Amberg, jury commissioners, were granted a judicial investigation into the conduct of their office by the Cook county judges at a meeting held in Judge Brennan's chambers.

The hearings, for which dates have not yet been fixed, will be public. A committee of three jurists will conduct the investigation and submit the evidence and their conclusions to the commissioners. The commissioners under fire will be permitted to present evidence. The action of the judges will result in a full and complete exposure of the conditions in the office of the jury commissioners. Attached to Mr. Wayman's office declare that it will present one of the greatest sensations in the history of Chicago. The jury commissioners declare that it will only need about one session to convince the judicial investigators that "there is more smoke than fire."

Nicholas J. Martin, secretary to Alderman Kenna, appeared in the criminal court building and furnished new security. Fred Brill being relieved from his portion of the bond of $25,000. In addition to bringing five bondsmen Alderman Kenna carried $25,000 in cash, which he said he would deposit as surety if Mr. Wayman refused the bondsmen offered.

REJOICE OVER CZAR'S VISIT.

Believed an Understanding Was Reached Between Italy and Russia.

Rome, Italy, Oct. 23.—Rejoicing prevails throughout the well-disposed part of Italian society because the czar's visit has not been marked by sinister incidents. The toasts exchanged by the sovereigns are generally applauded. The nation is waking up to the fact that the meeting is the outward symbol of important secret understandings and the comment of the press shows that according to well-informed opinion Italy is playing a bold game.

Few political observers would have credited the king and the government with enough courage openly to fraternize with the Russian ruler, especially since the czar offered Austria almost an insult by making a wide detour to avoid crossing Austrian soil. Italian feeling is tending still more strongly toward rapprochement with Russia and the opinion is widespread that Italy really had no choice except to run the risk of offending Austria and Germany, if those nations wish to take offense.

Racconigi, Italy, Oct. 23.—Emperor Nicholas left here on his return home. He was accompanied to the station by King Victor Emmanuel, members of the court and government officials. As upon the emperor's arrival, a great display of troops was made and the crowd enthroned the scene with shouts of farewell.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN PERIL.

Through Fire Drill 400 Escape from Burning Building.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—More than 400 school children escaped possible death by fire because they had throughout the year taken their fire drill as a serious matter. They are the pupils of the Jefferson Park high school, North Forty-seventh and Wilson avenues. An overheated furnace set fire to the flooring just above it and in a few minutes the building, four stories in height, was filled with a dense, black smoke. Alarming cries rang through the structure and for a moment the children were frightened. Then the voice of Principal Charles A. Cook was heard above the turmoil and the alarm bell in the school clanged loudly.

The students hesitated a moment and then fell into line as they have been doing since they entered the school. Headed by their teachers, they marched through the smoke-filled corridors to safety and a hourly cheer greeted them from the outside.

Mrs. Isman Seeks Divorce.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Irene Frixello Isman, wife of Felix Isman, the real estate operator and theatrical tucker, has been granted a decree of divorce. The ground for the action was said to be "cruel and barbarous treatment." When Mrs. Isman was questioned last May in Los Angeles about the rumor that she was seeking a separation she promptly fainting, Mr. Isman did not contest the case.

FEMALES IN BATTLE DO SOME DAMAGE

FIERCE FIGHT ENGUES BETWEEN STRIKING AND NON-STRIKING CIGARMAKERS.

HUNGARIANS VS. AMERICANS

Girls Use Hat Pins and Other Similar Weapons on Their Opponents—Police Forced to Wield Clubs to Subdue Intoxicated Women.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 23.—Five hundred Hungarian girls, cigar makers out on a strike for better pay at the factory of Hirschhorn, Mack & Co., here fought with 40 American girls, in an effort to keep the latter from going to work, and who finally stopped hostilities by the free use of their clubs. The girl strikers used hat pins, stones and finger nails for their weapons and did considerable damage to their opponents.

Several of the American girls had their clothes ripped from their backs and scores of those engaged on both sides in the amazonian war were scratched and their hair almost pulled out by the roots.

The American girls decided that they would go to work, strikers or no strikers. In a phalanx they advanced toward the factory. Inside, the male employees of the engine-room and boiler house encouraged them.

The 600 had closed about the 40, who fought tooth and nail. Screams and shouts rang out as the finger nails of the opposing parties left long runs, like a newly-plowed field, down faces.

Men Are Paralyzed.

One young woman was dragged by her hair almost twenty feet and kicked and beaten. The men attached to the factory stood paralyzed while the desperate battle of the women waged. Finally one of them jumped to a telephone and summoned Chief O'Connell.

The chief, with two other men, got on the job while the fight was hottest. "For God's sake, they are killing me," shrieked Grace Wallace, a forewoman in the factory and the leader of the little party of American workers, as a dozen husky "strippers" fell on her, stabbing at her viciously with hat pins.

Police Rescue Victims.

Chief O'Connell tried to force a path to her side and rescue her. The chief is a mild-mannered man as a rule, but after his face had been laid open by the finger nails of one striker and the uniform had been half torn off him by others, he did not hesitate to use force to get the half-fainting Wallace girl out. Then he and his men rescued Lizzie Merritt and Elizabeth Dougherty.

Four other American girls were injured by finger nails and hat pins, but they got out of the melee without police aid, although they hardly had strength to struggle to a place of safety.

For hours after the fight the victorious strikers paraded in front of the factory and held up boys sent to the place to give the men at work in the machinery departments their lunch.

APPEALS TO W. C. T. U. TO ACT.

Convention Requested to Assist in Suppressing White Slave Traffic.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 23.—Dr. O. Edward Junney of Baltimore, Md., chairman of the national vigilance committee for the suppression of the "white slave" traffic, gave a stirring address before the thirty-sixth annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union.

Dr. Junney declared that the traffic in girls has become an evil more widespread than the public imagines, reaching out into every part of this country and even across the ocean for victims.

The federal government, he said, is doing all it can to suppress the traffic, but is hampered by a supreme court decision that this is a matter for the police power of the states to deal with. He urged the members of the W. C. T. U. to influence their state legislatures to pass more drastic laws on this subject.

THIEVES LOOT CLOTHING HOUSE.

Secure About $3,000 Worth of Goods—Police Have No Clue.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Burglars, who are believed to have used a moving van to carry away their booty, made a rich haul on the general merchandise store of Abraham Kaplan, 2443 South Oakley avenue, the men's clothing section of the place being almost entirely cleaned out. More than 400 suits of clothing and 200 pairs of trousers, valued at about $3,500, were stolen by the thieves. A wagon with heavy wheels was backed to a door of the basement in the rear and loaded with the clothing and the thieves then escaped without being seen, and no trace of them has been found by the Hinman street police.

TAMMANY REPLIES SITUATION CRITICAL

LEADERS' ANSWER CHARGES THAT ORGANIZATION PRO-TECTS SLAVE TRAFFIC.

BECOMES CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Candidate Galvin Offers to Give $20,000 If Allegations Can Be Proven—Replies Taken as Indication Situation Is Critical.

New York, Oct. 26.—The fact that William J. Galvin, Democratic candidate for mayor, has taken up the charges that Tammany protects the white slave business, and has seen fit to offer a defense, has been seized upon by his opponents as showing that he has assumed responsibility for Tammany and this change in attitude will probably cost the former justice some more votes and make "White Slavery" one of the big issues of the campaign.

The fact that Charles Murphy, "Christy" Sullivan, candidate for sheriff and John P. Galvin, candidate for president of the board of aldermen, have also made answers, is taken as another indication that Tammany regards the situation as critical. Galvin offered to give $20,000 if the charges could be proved to be true.

Slime Sends Dispatch. In connection with the white slave charges, the Evening Post prints a long dispatch from United States District Attorney Edwin Sims of Chicago to the effect that his office found that there is a national and an international traffic in women and that the operations of the white slave trader can be carried on only with the connivance of the police.

The last week of the campaign has begun, with all the candidates working overtime and all claiming victory. The Hearst and Democratic leaders each say that their candidate will receive more votes than the other two combined. The Tribune says that a preliminary canvass assures the election of Otto T. Dammann, fusion nominee.

Hearst's Evening Journal sprang a new one in campaign advertising when it invited its readers to go and see and hear Galvin, as it would be sure to result in a vote against him.

The story was circulated that the word had gone out to Republican district leaders to try to elect Hearst, but this was again vigorously denied by the fusion managers.

RASMUSSEN SAW COOK'S DIARY.

Declares Cannot Believe It Was False—Dane Reaches Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, Oct. 26.—Knut Rasmussen, the Danish explorer, whose name has been closely associated with the north pole controversy, arrived here on the government steamer Hais from Greenland.

Questioned as to his views on Dr. Cook's expedition, he repeated the statement made by him in a letter to his wife that he confidently believed Dr. Cook reached the pole. He said he had seen Dr. Cook's diary and could not believe it false.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 26.—Dr. Henry L. Williams, coach of the University of Minnesota football team, said that he was told last February by Edwin N. Barrill that he and Dr. Cook did reach the top of Mount McKinley. Not until today did Dr. Williams associate his experience in the rocky mountains last February with the controversy between Cook and Peary.

"I am positive that Barrill said that he and Dr. Cook reached the mountain top," said Dr. Williams. "Furthermore, he assured me that every word in the magazine story written by Dr. Cook was true, and that he (Barrill) and Dr. Cook were the only men that had ever reached the top of Mount McKinley."

TO LIGHTEN WALSH'S TROUBLES.

Federal Attorney Is Asked by Bankers to Be Lenient.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Chicago bankers interested in the settlement of the financial troubles of John E. Walsh yesterday were reported to have asked United States District Attorney Sims to lighten Walsh's troubles in his criminal prosecution.

They are said to have protested against what they term the "persecution" of Walsh; and to have asked Mr. Sims to call off the detectives who have been trailing Walsh and to drop the government's plans to have Walsh sent to jail while he is waiting for the United States supreme court to pass on his case.

Mr. Sims' answer could not be learned, as he was in St. Louis on a Chicago delegate on the "Tatt" deep waterway trip. None of the lawyers in the case would discuss its status.

Meanwhile the negotiations by which Walsh hopes to save part of his fortune from the wreck, pay the clearing house notes and reimburse his guarantors' went badly on.

Boned Undergarment Keeps Bl-

What with bathing, riding, skating and performing all sorts of acrobatic and athletic tasks, the life of the stout woman has recently been a war one. Rubber underwear and marvelous corsets have been advertised in profusion and now comes a California woman with an

ANSWERS PURPOSE OF CORSET.

Undergarment that is designed to add to the war against fat. This garment is a two-piece affair, boned from the waist up to the armpits and down over the hips. The advantage of this boned pair is that when the garment is drawn in tight with the drawstring at the waist, it compresses the superfluous flesh just as a corset would do with the additional advantage of doing closer to the body than a corset. A woman wearing such an undergarment, too, would be able to sit down with a corset, thereby acquiring greater freedom of movement and having a more slender appearance by reason of having fewer layers of clothing on.

IN DURAN CE VILE.
Tortured in cage to force payment of $1,000,000.

Tangler.—The fate of El Roghl, the rebel pretender to the throne, Morocco, who fell into the hands of the Sultan against the protest of the French consul, is still a tragic mystery hidden by the walls of the royal palace. It is generally believed that the unfortunate captive is being subjected to tortures released but El Roghl remained a captive as only the mind of an African slave potentate could conceive in an effort to have him disgorge a fortune of more than $1,000,000 banked in Europe before his fate is finally settled.

A few days ago the report was given out from the palace, after El Roghl had been taken of his hidden fortune or turn it over inside that he had been executed by the Sultan, that he has been removed.

el secretly to Poz, where he is being treated by a European physician until he can gain strength to permit of fresh tortures.

When El Roghl was captured he was put into a small wooden and iron-barred cage. The cage was strapped to the back of a camel and he was brought to the palace of the Sultan. Defiant and cursing his captors, he was put on exhibition in the cage before the gates of the palace, where the furious crowds jeered and tortured him without breaking his defiant spirit. It was stated that the Sultan had sentenced him to spend the rest of his days in the cage, but El Roghl heard the sentence without apparent concern and refused again and again to turn his fortune over to the Sultan.

About a week ago the caged prisoner was moved inside the palace walls and reports filtered out of the desperate measures practiced by the Sultan to secure the pretender's wealth. Then came the report of his death followed now by the later report that he is kept alive for new tortures until he agrees to give over his money to the Sultan.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

ARE you a pendulum?

For most of us, yes, you know.

I remember a certain serious minded little girl who came to college when I was a senior.

She was a shy, thoughtful girl whose one object in coming to college was to study. For the most of her freshman year she talked of nothing but books and lessons, never looked at a man and never took part in the girl's jolly times because she was off by herself grinding away at her work.

But somehow or other towards the end of the freshman year it suddenly seemed to occur to her that she was missing something, that she was making a mistake, that there were other things one could get out of college besides an acquaintance with French and Latin verbs and an ability to juggle with xyz's.

And then presto, change—

A brand new Margaret appeared.

There was nothing she took more pride in than announcing that she had not looked at her Latin for days and had cut Math. three times in succession. She talked of nothing but parties and fashion. She threw herself with energy into everything that was to be done except her studying.

In her first incarnation she had been almost painfully prim in her speech, never using even the most harmless colloquialisms. In her second she delighted in the coarsest college slang she could learn.

When I went back to college to visit I hardly knew her.

Fortunately the plunge of a dunk or two brought her back to her senses at the end of the year, and the third year found her a reasonable personage combining fun and work as one is meant to do.

It took two years for that girl to find herself—two years for that pendulum to stop swinging.

And that's not a peculiar case but a very typical one. I saw several similar ones in college and I've seen a good many more since.

To be able to recognize your mistakes is a splendid thing.

To set promptly about correcting them when you do recognize them is even more splendid.

But to know when to stop correcting them I think deserves the superlative degree.

The man who does not live on the pendulum plan—who can leave one extreme without going to another—is a genius in the fine art of living.

No longer must they toil five hours over a hot cook stove and spend one-sixth of their week in the kitchen.

They have now found a bread that is better than any they could make at home. For Yankee Bread is not made like ordinary bread. It is baked in live steam ovens superheated to 340 degrees.

These ovens retain the moisture rising from the bread. Then other steam is forced in under terrific pressure. The result is wonderful. Every particle of natural moisture is BAKED RIGHT INTO THE LOAF.

And that is the most delicious loaf you ever tasted. It is moist, dainty and has a flavor unequalled by any bread baked. We want you to serve one loaf on your table—begin tomorrow. All grocers have Yankee Bread or you can get it from our wagons which pass your house each day, at 5c a loaf, although it is worth more, because it is larger and three times as good as any other bread.

Smothering Spells
"I suffered for nine or ten years.
Had spells of smothering, finally went into convulsions. Dr. Miles'
Nervine brought complete relief, and I believe saved my life."
—MRS. ROSA BONNER,
185 N. 18th St., Birmingham, Ala.
The blood is the channel through which is transported the nourishment that sustains life. When the circulation is poor, your vitality is low, your nervous system exhausted and you are weak and debilitated.
You can restore nervous energy by taking
Dr. Miles' Nervine.
Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system gives it power to send life-giving blood through the veins.
The first bottle will benefit; if not, the druggist will return your money.

Something is Going to Happen
We are exploding old fogy clothes ideas with our tailoring line. The only way to be Well Dressed
is to have clothes made to your own measurements by tailors who know how.
Let us explain our guarantee system. The prices are right. The goods are all wool.

PANTORIUM
JANESVILLE, WIS.

IF YOU
MUST SMOKE
why, go ahead and smoke,
only don't smoke heavy all Havana cigars. They are injurious to the tender mucosa of the neck. Try a CARMUR. Years of experience with just enough
Havana tobacco are blended in the Carmur to give it the delightful flavor by which it is known.
10¢ everywhere.
